French Level 4
Organization French IV

In this yearlong course, students will further their understanding of French culture and advance their language skills and proficiency in French in the domains of Reading, Writing, Listening, and Speaking. Leçons (Units) are organized around themes through which students will be able to explore, practice, and achieve language abilities and skills for the 21st century skills through ACTFL’s Standards for Foreign Language Learning: Communication, Cultures, Connections, Comparisons, and Communities.

Proficiency goals for students completing this course are aligned with ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines 2012 – Intermediate Level. Students achieving excellence in this course are expected to show minimum proficiency to the following ACTFL Proficiency levels in the four domains (See Appendix A: Proficiency Goals for detailed descriptors):

- Reading: Advanced-Mid
- Writing: Advanced-Mid
- Listening: Advanced-Low
- Speaking: Advanced-Low

Performance Expectations:

- Pronunciation and delivery: Student attempts to approximate native-like pronunciation and can be easily understood by interlocutors who are accustomed to dealing with non-native speakers of French.

- Grammar and language structures: Student uses and understands a variety of complex grammar structures which have been learned in the prior course sequence, can understand all of the grammar structures covered in the leçon/unit, and can use those structures to a degree of accuracy that does not impede the interlocutor’s comprehension nor force interpretation of meaning on the part of the interlocutor.

- Vocabulary: Students can understand the meaning and connotation of all vocabulary included in the unit in supported contexts. Students can use any of the unit’s vocabulary in appropriate contexts.

- Organization: Students’ speech and writing shows conventions of organization, detail, supported argumentation, elaboration, and depth appropriate to their grade level, and facilitates understanding of the author’s meaning and intent.
